American Mining Insurance Group Announces Company Name Change to Berkley Industrial Comp

Name Change Coincides with Company's 30th Anniversary

Birmingham, AL. (April 4, 2019) — American Mining Insurance Group, a Berkley Company, today announced that it is changing its name to Berkley Industrial Comp. The name change is part of a rebranding effort that reflects the company's specific focus on and commitment to providing mono-line Workers' Compensation to the highly regulated high-hazard industry segment.

Berkley Industrial Comp is an insurance provider dedicated to providing highly experienced and outstanding personalized service exclusively to industrial organizations. As a member company of W. R. Berkley Corporation, an insurance holding company that is among the largest commercial lines writers in the United States, Berkley Industrial Comp is able to access the resources generally possessed only by large corporations while providing the focus, expertise and personal service of a smaller, specialty organization.

"It is very fitting that American Mining Insurance Group is changing our name to Berkley Industrial Comp on our 30th anniversary," said Chandler F. Cox, Jr., CEO. "For the last 30-years we have remained true to our commitment to provide experience, excellence and empathy to those we serve in the higher hazard industries. Our commitment of getting the injured worker back to a healthy, productive life both at work and home remains our number one priority."

Berkley Industrial Comp's primary office is in Birmingham, AL. Additional offices can be found throughout the country ensuring that there are teams of individuals near the states served by the company organizations. The company footprint enables the team to be more readily available to react quickly to customer needs.
